

Course Outline for Translinks Training on REDD (3 days)

Arrive on September 9, 2008

10-12 September 2008

Lima, Peru

Course Objective: The objective of this meeting is to provide knowledge and understanding on methods and policy for developing forest carbon projects in tropical countries, including identification and approaches for engagement with government staff on national climate change mitigation policies. Through interactive presentations and discussions, the meeting will address the status of international policy on REDD and forest carbon, requirements for instituting and implementing forest carbon projects, an overview of methods and the project cycle for sub-national scale REDD projects and background on voluntary and compliance market trends. Case studies of WCS projects under development will also be presented. All participants will have an opportunity to discuss their work and review status/potential for emissions reductions financing options at their sites.
